

Instructions for Authors

<June 2019>

1. The Japanese-French Oceanographic Society (hereafter “Society”) publishes the official bulletin named La mer.
2. La mer is a scientific journal for publication of research results in oceanography, fisheries and related sciences, and also for exchange of information among researchers.
3. La mer is published generally four times a year. A submitted or requested manuscript (hereafter “manuscript”) is published after evaluation and acceptance by the editorial board of the Society on the basis of peer-reviews. La mer publishes original articles, short contributions, reviews, scientific materials, book reviews and others. The Society reserves the copyright of all those papers.
4. Submission is not limited by a member of the Society but open to researchers all over the world. Submission of the manuscript implies that the work described has not been published previously, has not been accepted for publication, and is not under review for publication anywhere else.
5. The manuscript should be written in Japanese, French or English, except the abstract, tables and figure captions, which should be written in English. The manuscript written in French or English should be accompanied by Japanese title, author names and abstract (not more than 500 characters), which appear in “documents” column; for submission by non-native Japanese speakers, the editorial board takes care of this Japanese translation.
6. The manuscript should be prepared using computer software (such as MS Word). It should be written with double-spacing (similar spacing for Japanese manuscript) on A4-size pages. Tables, figures and figure captions should be separated from the main text.

7. The style, format and description method of the manuscript should follow the guideline “Manuscript Preparation.” Author names should not be abbreviated. Symbols and abbreviations should follow the general standard. The list of references should be prepared in respective formats for journal articles, book chapters (including partial citation) and books, as shown in the “Manuscript Preparation.”
8. Figures should be prepared for block copies, being sharp and suitable for reduction to fit in the full or half column-width.
9. The authors correct the first proofs only; revision of or addition to the manuscript is not acceptable in principle.
10. Publication charges are as follows. In case of submission by a member of the Society or if a coauthor is a member of the Society, 3,000 yen per page is charged for the first ten pages and 10,000 yen per page for excess pages. In case of submission by a nonmember of the Society, 10,000 yen per page is charged. For color illustrations, 20,000 yen per color-page is charged additionally. For book reviews and scientific materials, the first one page and two pages, respectively, are free of charge.
11. Reprints are provided in blocks of 50 copies at cost. A reprint order-form is sent with the first proofs.
12. Papers published in La mer are made public on Websites of the Society and others soon after printing. It is understood that the authors approved this at submission.
13. The manuscript should be sent to the editorial board listed below by e-mail with attached files. The e-mail address and phone number of the author (or the corresponding author) should be informed.
